

Logopak install roll labeller at insulation factory

Logopak International Ltd have installed another industrial print and apply labelling machine at a leading manufacturer of glass mineral wool insulation products located in central Scotland. A Logopak 920 labeller was installed at this state of the art factory, the machine automatically labels every roll of insulation with a unique product ID label after it has exited the wrapper, so that the product can then be tracked throughout the supply chain. The 920 series of labellers feature an 8" print head and up to 1200m label reel capacity, allowing for the print and apply of labels up to A4 size. Logopak International Ltd are the UK division of Logopak Systeme, the inventors and leading manufacturer of industrial print & apply technology.
